Tryon Block House - Course Report

The Green Creek Race Course was inspected on April 4, 2022 by Dan Fradley and Micah Yarboro.

Turf: There is a solid stand of grass, with a small percentage of weeds, which were sprayed on March 21. Due to the high percentage of grass this year, the spray will not leave bare spots. Grasses prominently seen throughout the course are fescues (fine and turf type tallfescue), with a small amount of Poa Annua. Foliar fertilizer feeds have been sprayed on a 10-14 day rotation, with a granular feed starting in February of 10-20-20 every 30-35 days (as needed). The course was sprayed for disease on March 31, and will not need anything more until after the race meet. Smoothness: The course is being mowed every three to four days to help create a dense turf profile. The turf started at 2.5 inches and has now raised its height to 4 inches. The track will be mowed one last time on Monday, April 11 to achieve the desired height of 6 inches plus for race day. This will only change if instructed by the Race Meet Director.

Compaction: Readings of 115 - 140 throughout the course (good - firm). The reading is high due to the irrigation program set for the freshly germinated overseed from February, as watering is frequent to encourage rooting and growth from the seedlings. This means the course was wetter than usual and pore space was filled to capacity. The course will be aggravated this week at a depth of 6 inches to reduce this compaction number, and possibly again the week of race in consulting the Race Meet Director and obtaining feedback.

Moisture: Readings were high (30% plus on average), due to the irrigation program running and applying 0.75 inches of water evenly throughout the course over a 24 hour period. This program runs every day, but will start reducing towards the end of this week.

Notes: Course is in good shape and should be in great condition for the race on April 16.
